

Jesus teaches in Nazareth.

Luke 4:14-30

Jesus grew up in the town of Nazareth. One day, when He was a grown up, Jesus went to the synagogue in Nazareth. The synagogue was the place where people came together to learn about and worship God. The men were taking turns reading God's Word aloud.

When it was Jesus' turn, Jesus read God's words written by the prophet Isaiah. The words said that God's Son, the Savior, would come to Earth and make sick people well. The Savior would care for the poor and set people free from the punishment for the wrong things they had done. When Jesus stopped reading, He said, "Today these words have come true."

The people were amazed! Did Jesus mean He was the Savior? Jesus' words made the people angry. They did not believe Jesus was the Savior God had promised to send.

The people became so angry that they took Jesus out of the synagogue. They wanted to hurt Jesus. But Jesus walked away from the angry crowd and went safely on His way to tell people in other places who He was and why He had come to Earth.
